MEDICAL
REFORM.
ADVICE FREE.
New-York Benevolent Infirmary,
ESTABLISHED 1856,
And devoted to The Cause of Medical Reform; to the Diffusion of Medical Knowledge for the Prevention of Disease, and to the relief of those suffering and afflicted with Chronic and Virulent Disorders. To this end this Infirmary is endowed, to enable the sick and suffering throughout the length and breadth of our land, to avail the Poisonous Drugs, Extortion, and Ignorance of professed Physicians, through which thousands and tens of thousands annually perish.
The following are some of the diseases we cure, not only at the Infirmary but in all parts of our country:
Consumption and Pulmonary Complaints, Fevers, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Eye and Ear Disease, Cancers and other Tumors, Jaundice and Liver Complaint, Seminal Weakness, and all diseases of the Urinary and Sexual Organs, from whatever cause or whatever nature. Our object will be to give joy to the afflicted by effecting in all cases a speedy cure.
Our rule is to charge nothing for advice and written prescriptions, but will furnish when requested the very best medicines at the lowest rates.
These remedies are prepared in our own Laboratory, under the care of able Chemists, and are the most reliable known to science, including all the recent discoveries.
To all addressing us by letter, containing full account of symptoms and appearances of disease, age, occupation, &c., we will write a candid reply, with advice and directions for cure. Any fees sent us when sending for advice will be devoted to furnishing medicine for the poor. In all cases medicine can be sent by mail or express if desired. Send for one or more of our works and judge for yourselves.
Also published at the Infirmary, to aid these objects,

THE ROOT & HERB DOCTOR,
FROM PHILADELPHIA,
WHO HAS HAD 30 YEARS CONSTANT practice, can be consulted at the Altoona House, Mr. John Wood's, viz.:—On the 7th of June, the 8th of July, and the 7th of August—he will then vacate for 3 months. Notice will be given in this paper when he commences his Winter's Term again.
He treats all diseases that flesh is heir to. He invites all females who may be suffering with diseases peculiar to their sex, to call and examine his new mode of treatment, as thousands have been restored to health who have been abandoned by others. He is in possession of perfect instruments for sounding the lungs and chest and is therefore able to determine the exact condition of the vital organs—consequently can treat such complaints with greater safety and certainty than it is possible for those who guess at the disease and experiment for its cure. He believes that for every malady, there is found in our soil a sure and never-failing remedy.
Patients can receive treatment for $5 per month, except in cases of Cancers and Tumors, they vary from $10 to $100. Examination free. DR. W. LEVINGSTON.

THE NORTHERN MOTHER.

They are all in the army
My three brave, gallant boys;
They've changed the peace of home life
For martial pomp and joys.
It tore my heart-strings sadly
To see them march away;
But when their country called them,
I could not them say nay.

There's one that grasps a true sword,
Commissioned to command,
There's one within the ranks found
With musket in his hand;
There's one, and he my youngest,
Whose stirring drum doth beat
The faultless, martial measure
For proudly stepping feet.

Their fathers fought before them
On many a bloody plain—
At Erie and at Chippewa,
At York and Lundy's Lane,
O, may his spirit nerve them
When in the battle's brunt;
For should they fall, I'll know them
They bear their wounds in front.

God shield my three brave darlings
Throughout these crimson wars!
God help them in defending
Our good old Stripes and Stars!
God speed them on their mission
To quell the Rebel foe!
With strength that each arch-traitor
May need no second blow.

And when my youngest boy beats
The loud long roll at night,
That tells of foes advancing,
And bids them arm for fight,
God give unto my other boys,
Amid the battle's flame,
To one—a dashing soul to lead,
To one—unerring aim.

The list of slain and wounded
I'll read with trembling breath,
To see how many darling sons
Have met untimely death.
And should mine be among them,
And fall they there like braves,
I would not wish them holier death,
Nor ask them prouder graves.

AUTUMN.

When Nature wears her russet gown,
And swallows to the South have flown—
When grapes turn purple on the wall,
And from the boughs the ripe pears fall—
When lambs and sheep grow thick with wool,
Then autumn's lap with fruit is full;

When corn is gathered in the barn,
And reeds are rattling in the tarn—
When partridges in coveys fly,
And dogs and men are company—
When squirrels fill their nutty store,
Then Autumn's morn with frost is hoar.

When sleep-mice hide their sleek, fat forms,
And deep in earth bore ringed worms—
When leaves come rustling down from trees,
And flies the cattle cease to tease,
Then oak his sturdy arms doth bare,
To battle with the Autumn air.

When silent robins beg for crumbs,
And old men fumble with their thumbs—
When fires show again in halls,
And bats hook on to dark, warm walls,
Then cold winds whistle o'er the moor,
And Autumn shuts the summer door.

SMALL SAVINGS.

A STORY FOR THE TIMES.

"I don't see how Holmes does it," said John Stetson, with a puzzled expression.
"Does what?" asked his wife looking up from her sewing.
"Why save so much money from his salary, to be sure."
"Then he does save, does he?"
"You know the half-acre lot adjoining his house."
"Yes."
"Well, he has just bought it for one hundred dollars, and, what is more, paid for it out of money saved from his salary this year."
"How does his salary compare with yours."
"He has only seven hundred dollars a year, while I have eight hundred dollars. Then our families are the same; each of us have two children."
"Yet I am afraid you don't save near that amount."
"No, I guess not. The fact is, if I find myself square at the end of the year, I think myself lucky."
"And yet, John," said his wife gravely, "it seems to me as if we ought to lay up something."
"It is easy enough to say that; but the question is, how are we going to do it? There's Mary's music lessons at $10 a quarter. That's the only way I can think of: and I should'nt want to stop these."
"No, of course not, but isn't there any other way?"
"Not, that I know of."
"Don't you think, John, the little incidental expenses amount to more than you think for?"
"Such as what?"
"Cigars, ice-cream, oysters, the theatre, and so on."
"John Stetson winced a little.
"They are mere trifles," said he carelessly. "A few cents each time. Pooh! they would make precious little difference at the end of the year."
"You know there's an old proverb—'Many a little makes a muckle.'"
"Pshaw! I hate proverbs. Besides, these little things are of really very little account. A man doesn't feel the sum he pays out, and if it didn't go in one way, it would in another."
"How many cigars do you smoke daily," pursued his wife.
"Three."
"And how much do you pay for them."
"Four cents apiece?"
"That would make twelve cents,"
"And what's twelve cents?"
"Not much, in itself; but multiplied by a larger number it amounts to something."
"What are you driving at, wife?"
"I am going to make a proposition to you."
"I'm all attention."
"You say you don't mind a few cents a day."
"Of course not."
"Then I propose that a small box be obtained, with a slit in the lid, just like the children's tin savings' boxes, in short, only larger; and that for cents you spend for cigars, ice-cream, theaters or any such luxury, you deposit an equal sum in the box."
John Stetson laughed.
"I dare say," he remarked, "it would bring me out a perfect Crœsus at the end of the year,"
"Do you agree? asked his wife, with some appearance of anxiety.
"Yes, I have no great objection, if you desire it, though I acknowledge it seems a little foolish and childish."
"Never mind about that. I have your promise, and we'll try the experiment one year. If it doesn't amount to enough to make it an object, then it will be be time to give it up."
"You must take all the trouble of it. I can't engage to do anything about it, except to furnish the money when it is called for."
"That is all I shall require of you.—But I shall require you to give an account every night of all that you have disbursed in the ways I spoke of, and to be prepared with an equal amount of change for deposit."
"Very well, I'll try."
"This conversation took place at the breakfast-table. Having drained his second cup of coffee, John Stetson put on his overcoat and took his way to his place of business. I may as well mention in this connection, that he was cashier of a bank, and as his duties occupied him only a few hours in the day, he was more likely from the leisure which he enjoyed, to indulge in small expenses.
"My wife is an enthusiast," thought he, as he was walking down town. "However, her hobby won't cost much so I might as well indulge her in it."
He stepped into a store and obtained his daily allowance of cigars.
Meanwhile Mrs. Stetson proceeded to the shop of a cabinet-maker.
"I want you," said she, "to make me a mahogany box, twelve inches long, the other dimensions being four inches each.
In the centre of the top is to be a slit, large enough to admit the largest silver coin."
"A money box," said the cabinet-maker.
"Yes."
"Pretty large for that is'nt it?"
"Rather," said Mrs. Stetson, smiling; "but better too large than too small."
John Stetson fell in with a companion in the afternoon, with whom he had a social chat. As they were walking leisurely along, they passed an oyster saloon."
Stetson was particularly fond of the bivalves and he proposed they should go in and take some.
To this his friend did not demur, and they accordingly entered. Two plates of oysters came to twenty-five cents. Besides they took a glass of ale each, which made twelve cents more. This brought a bill of thirty-seven cents, which Stetson paid. Accordingly, adding to this twelve cents for cigars, he deposited forty-nine cents into his wife's hand that evening.
"I might as well make it fifty" said he smiling.
"No," said she, "not a cent over. I want the savings to represent exactly what you spend on these little luxuries and no more."
The next evening he had nothing to deposite except the usual amount for cigars.
"It won't mount up very fast at that rate" said he triumphantly.
"Never mind" said his wife, "I don't wan't you to increase your expenditures on my account. I am inclined to think they will not be always as small as this."
She was right.
The next day, being Wednesday, John Stetson brought home a couple of tickets for the theatre. It was a benefit night and he was anxious that his wife should go."
"Certainly," said she "I shall be glad to go, but you remember our compact?"
"What."
"How much did you pay for the tickets?"
"Fifty cents apiece."
"That will make a dollar. Please hand me that amount for our fund."
"Was the theatre included," said John a little reluctantly.
"Certainly. That was expressly mentioned."
"Oh, very well, so let it be, here is a silver dollar.
The dollar was dropped at once into the box.
The next day, in passing a shop window Stetson noticed some fine oranges.
"Just what Mary and the children would like" thought he, "I'll go and inquire the price."
They were four cents apiece. He bought four at the cost of a quarter, which with his cigar money, left him thirty-seven cents to deposit.
The succeeding day he spent nothing, except for some cigars. On Saturday he stepped into a confectionary establishment with a friend, and had a lunch. This brought that day's account up to 40 cents.
When his wife added up the daily sums she found to her own surprise even, that she had received from her husband two dollars and sixty-two cents. He would have been astonished to hear it, but she thought it best not to say anything about it. He would have alleged that it was a special case, as they did not go to the theatre every week. This was true; but then something else was sure to come of equivalent cost, such as a ride or a concert.
So time slipped away. The necessity, according to the compact, of giving his wife as much as he spent for incidental expenses, no doubt contributed to check him somewhat, so that, probably he did not spend more than two-thirds as much in this as he had done before the agreement. Still he kept up the average of the first week.
We will now suppose the year to have glided by. John Stetson came into the room with a pre-occupied air.
"What are you thinking about? asked his wife.
"About the half-acre lot adjoining the one Holmes bought last year."
"Do you wish to purchase it."
"Yes I should like to; but of course I can't, not having the money."
"How much do they ask for it?"
"Holmes paid a hundred dollars for his. This is on some accounts preferable, and they hold it at one hundred and twenty-five dollars."
"Perhaps you can raise the money, John," said his wife quietly.
"By borrowing. I shouldn't want to do that."
"You remember our fund?"
"Pshaw! that may possibly amount to thirty or forty dollars."
"Suppose we count it as the year is up to-day."
"Very well."
The box was opened and husband and wife commenced counting. They soon reached and passed forty dollars.
"Bless my soul!" said John Stetson, "I had no idea there was so much."
What was his astonishment when the total proved to be one hundred and twenty-nine dollars and forty cents!
"You see you can buy the lot."
"But haven't you swelled the amount from your own allowance?" he asked somewhat bewildered.
"Not a cent; and don't you see, John; that if you had refrained from even half of the little expenses we spoke of, we might have had in the neighborhood of two hundred dollars."
John Stetson did see it, and he determined that the lesson should be a serviceable one. The half-acre lot was bought, and now, at the end of the five years it was worth double what he paid for it.—He has also laid aside $200 a year, during this period and all by small savings.

"Why, Charley," said a Yankee to a negro preacher, "can you tell me who made the monkey?" "Oh, yes I can, massa. Why, massa, de same one made de monkey dat made you."

Teacher—"Toby, what did the Israelites do when they crossed the Red Sea?"
Toby—"I don't know, ma'am, but I guess they dried themselves."

☞ We wonder if any one ever picked up a tear that was dropped?

IS THERE LOVE IN JEALOUSY?

Bill Williamson's wife took tea at my house, last Thursday night. My wife, Emma, and she, are old acquaintances.—In fact, they were girls together. Mrs. Williamson's baptismal name is Margaret. Emma always calls her Maggie. Everything went off very pleasant at the tea table. The girls—I always call them girls, though they are both married and mothers—the girls passed most of the time in a comic discussion about jealousy. They both insisted that jealousy was a constituent of true love. I threw doubt upon the proposition. My argument was that sincere connubial affection was unbounded trust. Suspicion was the canker that gnawed away love.
"If I once distrusted my Emma," said I, gazing at her tenderly, "there would be an end of my regard."
"Nonsense," responded Mrs. Williamson.
I was nettled at her curt reply, but held my temper. I have long known the folly of argument with women. Corner them with logic, and they escape your grasp by some irritating and personal attack. Besides, I like Mrs. Maggie. During Emma's last sickness, she watched at her bedside, till-her cheek grew pale, and her rounded figure became as thin as a skeleton.
"I tell you, Bobby, Maggie is right," said my Emma, in a most provoking manner. So I collapsed and held my tongue. Yet I was wounded at the result of the contest where positiveness and bold assumption were arrayed against cold ratiocination.
Happening to recollect that Tom Willoughby had suggested a rubber of whist at his house, I told the girls I believed I would go round to Tom's. I found Tom and his wife and mother-in-law, awaiting my coming. I preferred Rebecca Willoughby for a partner, and good naturedly intimated my preference; but it seems the matter had all been arranged before my coming.
I have no objections to old Mrs. Crollop, except she wears specs, and is so cross over the game. If I make misplay she pitches into means if I had committed a grievous sin. Her sharp scolding makes me as nervous as a consumptive girl.
I reckon we must have been playing about an hour when the front door bell emitted a nervous tinkle. Mrs. Crollop was in fine spirits at the time. She had just exhausted the trumps and laws making a fine headway with her commanding suit of hearts.
Rebecca sprang up to go to the door.
"Now sit down, Becky, till this hand is played out," said Mrs Crollop, peremptorily.
"No Ma," said Mrs. Willoughby," it is impolite to keep people waiting at the door," and off went Mrs. Willoughby.
"There sir," said the old lady, turning sharply to me, you see what comes of your slow playing! It's too bad to be tricked out of the only good hand I've had to-night, If you'd played faster sir, we'd have won the game. You're a—"
But just then Mrs. Willoughby entered the room followed by my wife Emma.
After them came a dapper and genteel looking young fellow, whom my wife introduced as Mr. Tebbs. She said Tebbs was a cousin of her dear friend, Maggie Williamson's who had just arrived from the mountains. She also said that Tebbs and she had seen Maggie home, and she had begged Tebbs to accompany her to Mrs. Willoughby's.
"And Bobby, dear," she continued, "don't you think George is amazingly like Maggie?"
The resemblance was certainly very strong; but what puzzled me was the sudden intimacy that had sprung up between the young stranger and my wife.
I confess I was a little amazed at Emma's speaking of him as George. To show my reprobation I stated, with much dignity, that I was pleased to form the acquaintance of Mr. Tebbs.
I took particular pains to emphasize the name of the individual, and especially the word "Mister."
Amazement sprang into indignation as the impertinent coxcomb turned hastily to me and exclaimed, "Come, Bobby, old fellow, sit down and finish your game.—I want to say a few sweet things to Emma.
"Old Mrs. Crollop caught the hint at once. "Yes," said she, "let the young people talk while we conclude our game. Diamonds are trumps I believe and it's my lead."
Well, I did sit down, while I felt the perspiration of rage oozing from every pore. Under any other circumstances I would have knocked the man down, but I was in the house of a friend, and I had no business to make a scene there.
The Lord only knows how I managed to eke out of the game. I know Mrs. Crollop was prolific in epithets, Stupid was the mildest term she applied to me.—I was gradually straightening myself into some sort of self-possession, when something like a sharp labial articulation was heard in the room.
"What's that?" exclaimed old Mrs. Crollop. I suddenly turned round to the corner occupied by Tebbs and Emma, and as true as I live, Tebb's arms were encircling my wife's form, while his lips were glued to her's in spasmodic kissing.
"Ha! ha!" I shouted with demoniac intonation, "ha! ha!"
I sprang towards the guilty pair, seized Tebbs by the coat tail and swung him against the card table. The impetus I gave Tebbs precipitated the table on the old lady, and Tebbs and table and the old lady rolled over on the floor in one confused mass.
With the fury of a fiend I turned upon my wife, "Perfidous and faithless woman," I almost roared, "taint not the abode of virtue with your shameless presence. Leave at once and take your vile paramour with you. And yet I love you—your Jealous Bobby loves you!" I said this in a heart-broken tone.
"Do you, Bobby?" queried she. "Then Maggie, let's go."
Tebbs had meanwhile arisen from his recumbent position. Tebbs, in fact, was Maggie Williamson.
Emma and Tebbs left arm in arm. I followed.
Mrs. Crollop, as I passed out of the door, called me a "sickly fool."
Perhaps there is jealousy in love.

AFTER THE BATTLE.—A volunteer who was in the fight at Fredericktown, Mo., gives a graphic picture of the battle field after the fight was over:—
"In returing, I passed through the field where Col. Lowe's command was engaged in battle. This field, away to the left, was about as large as one of our blocks in the city. I never shall forget this sight as long as I live. It was the most awful spectacle I ever looked upon. Men, dead and dying, were strewn in all directions, shattered, torn and mangled. I counted one hundred and forty-two dead men on that one field. Most of them were shot in the head. Col. Lowe was shot right in the forehead, and his brains were all running out. He was a powerful man and a brave one. He had thrown off his coat and rolled up his shirt sleeves for the fight. His body had been completely stripped of everything valuable. I wanted something as a trophy, so I dismounted and found a little flute, the only thing left on him. The most singular thing I saw was a man who was shot while getting over a fence, and whose body remained upon the top of it. I counted seven bullet holes in his body. I saw another man with one half of his head gone. But I will not recite more of these shocking details. I know I never shall forget them.

PERSONAL SECURITY.—"Will you do me a favor?" said young George Brooks to his wealthy friend, Simon Hanson.
"What is it George?" said Hanson.
"I wish you to lend me a hundred dollars, sir."
"Call at my counting-house," rejoined Hanson.
George was not long in paying his respects.
"What security can you give me, young man?"
"My own personal security, sir."
"Very well, get in here," said Hanson lifting up the lid of a large iron chest.
"Get in here," exclaimed George in astonishment. "What for?"
"Why, this is the place where I always keep my securities."

——It has become quite a practice in the South to present commanding officers with race horses well known for their superior speed. A cotemporary thinks it looks suspicious, to say the least, to see a general mounted on a very fast horse on a battle field. Perhaps a Bull Run affair is anticipated on the other side.

UNDERGROUND RAILROAD.—The Richmond "Enquirer" says. "We have been requested to state that the original underground railroad to Maryland has resumed its trips, with every prospect of uninterrupted success. It will run tri-weekly."

——An Irishman just from the sod was eating some cheese, when he found to his dismay that it contained living inhabitants. "By jabers," said he, "does your chase have children?"

☞ "Is anybody waiting on you?" said a polite dry goods clerk to a girl from the country. "Yes, sir," said she, blushing, "that's my feller outside. He would not come in."

☞ A Chicago paper having said the secessionists were in league with hell. Prentice suggests that they are within less than a league of it.

☞ Whenever a golden wedding is going on, almost every young lady would like to be in the ring—or rather to have a finger in it.

A Day of Thanksgiving and Praise.

Pennsylvania, ss.

In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of said Commonwealth.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, Every good gift is from above and comes down to us from the Almighty, to whom it is meet, right and the bounden duty of every people to render thanks for His mercies; Therefore I, ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do recommend to the people of this Commonwealth that they set apart

Thursday, the 28th day of November next,

as a day of solemn Thanksgiving to God, for having prepared our corn and watered our furrows, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our barns are filled with plenty: And for having looked favorably on this Commonwealth and strengthened the bars of her gates and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace in her borders; Beseeching Him also on behalf of these United States, that our beloved country may have deliverance from these great and apparent dangers wherewith she is compassed, and that He will mercifully still the outrage of perverse, violent, unruly and rebellious people, and make them clean hearts, and renew a right spirit within them, and give them grace that they may see the error of their ways and bring forth fruits meet for repentance, and hereafter, in all godliness and honesty, obediently walk in His holy commandments, and in submission to the just and manifest authority of the republic, so that we, leading a quiet and peaceable life, may continually offer unto Him our sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving.

SEAL

GIVEN under my hand and the great seal of the State at Harrisburg, this sixteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-sixth.

Retirement of General Scott.

Last week we published the letter of resignation of Gen. Scott, and the proceedings subsequent thereto. We regret that one who possessed so largely the confidence of the loyal people of the Union, should be compelled, at this time, to retire from his high position. Old age and its infirmities have called away from active duty the "Hero of a hundred battles," who, after serving his country nobly and patriotically for a full half century, amid the trials and hardships of the service, the danger and thick drifting hail and shot of the battle-field, and filling the post of honor second by position, but first in the counsels which pertain to the nation's safety, retires to his home, there in the bosom of his family, to seek the repose and quiet of private life, to which he has so long been a stranger.

Though the nation will receive this intelligence with sadness and regret, yet we have cause for joy that he still remains in our midst, a living monument of American history and American glory. Windfield Scott is a connecting link in the chain of the past and present events of our nation's existence. There is no other individual whose whole life has been so intimately connected with our government. Seventy-six years he has been among us and fifty-three has been a soldier.

At the battle of Lundy's Lane he displayed the characteristics which betokened the military chieftain, and his subsequent campaign in Mexico will ever be looked upon as a perfect type of the art of war. But it was when our nation's honor was assailed, and our country's flag so ignominiously insulted at Fort Sumpter, that the true character of the noble old hero shone forth with such brilliancy. Knowing no North, no South, but his country "one and inseparable," respecting no flag but the banner of stars and Stripes, and receiving an insult to it as an insult to himself, he entered with his whole soul into the efforts inaugurated to crush out this wicked and unholy rebellion. For the last six months he has stood nobly at his post, and endured an amount of labor, under which many a younger frame would have failed; and it is to his wise and experienced counsels, perhaps more than to any other man that we may attribute our present security.

We sincerely hope that if the government be not again permitted to enjoy the benefit of his "wise counsels and sage experience," that the measure of his days may be lengthened out, and before he enters on the long journey of Eternity, he may have the satisfaction of knowing that the difficulties which now disturb and distract the country which he has long and faithfully served, have been settled, the supremacy of the Constitution established, and the glorious ensign of the Republic floating from every fort and fortress in the Union.

The best wishes of the nation will follow our great captain in his retirement, with sympathies for his suffering—its prayers for his welfare.

A Million of Men Wanted for the War.

The President is engaged upon his message to Congress. With a view to an economical prosecution and early termination of the war, it is understood in the best informed circles, that an increase of the volunteer army will be called for. We are now in a position, telegraphs Colonel Forney, to estimate the strength of the force to be met in the field, and to meet that force effectually, we will require a million of men. The rebellion has hitherto been under-estimated; now the veil has been removed; our work is presented before us; it is not of small magnitude, but it is not beyond our control. We are more than equal to this duty; our resources in men and means are far more than equal to all that will be required of us. If there is a deficiency in any one thing it is PATRIOTISM—the very element which gained for us our liberty and our Government. Are we ready to acknowledge that we have lost the patriotism of our fathers, or are we prepared to maintain and perpetuate those glorious principles of government which they by their blood and treasure purchased for us, and bequeathed to us, in trust, as our inheritance and as that of our children?

☞ A prisoner, taken at Ball's Bluff, was astonished to learn that our army was not almost entirely composed of Abolitionists and radical Republicans, and that our main object was other than to emancipate slavery throughout the South. He said, if the fact were generally known to the working people of the South that our sole object was to sustain the Government and preserve the Union intact, there would be a revolution in the rebel army, and peace restored. He was surprised beyond measure to be assured that Breckinridge Democrats constituted a large component of the army.

Steamer Bienville at Annapolis.

Two Forts and Town of Beaufort Captured.

FIGHT LASTED FOUR HOURS.

8 Killed & 20 Wounded on Federal Side.

All the Arms, Equipments, Public and Private Books, Papers and Letters of the Rebels Captured.

ANAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—A bearer of despatches has arrived from the fleet, in the steamer Bienville. The Bienville left Port Royal on Sunday last.

The late gale was very severe. Steamers Union and Osceola were ashore and were lost. Steamer Governor foundered but nearly all the crew were saved.

The fleet arrived at Port Royal on Monday, 4th inst. On Tuesday several boats sounded the channel under fire from the forts. On Wednesday the weather prevented active operations. On Thursday at 10 o'clock A M., action commenced and was hotly carried on for four hours, when the rebels abandoned their works.

Our loss was 8 killed and 20 wounded. The rebel loss is unknown, but 52 bodies were found and buried by our men. They carried of their wounded.

The Forts captured were Forts Walker and Beauregard.

The final retreat of the rebels was a perfect rout. They left all their arms, equipments, officers' swords and commissions, all their letters, public and private books, documents, &c., in their haste to get away.

Among their papers was a telegram from Jeff Davis to the commander notifying him that the fleet had sailed and that its destination was Port Royal.

The whole country was seized with a panic. All the plantations seemed to be deserted except by the negroes.

All the letters in the Beaufort P. O. were seized after the capture. The whole army, 15,000 strong, were safely landed and established on the sacred soil of South Carolina.

The force of the enemy was from 3,000 to 4,000, under Gen. Drayton, of South Carolina.

PARSON BROWNLOW'S FAREWELL.—The Knoxville Whig has been at last suspended. The issue of Saturday October 26th, was the last one, and in it is contained Parson Brownlow's farewell address. The old patriot is as firm as a rock and dies game. His address is as bitter and sarcastic as ever, and he pitches into the Confederate government in the most refreshing manner. He says he is to be imprisoned, but that he will march to his prison with as much pride as the old martyrs' marched to the scaffold.

WHY THEY OPENED THEM.—A Hibernian, in describing a famine in the old country, said that hundreds had actually starved to death, and on opening their bodies, they had been so pressed by hunger that they had actully filled themselves with grass. "Why," asked a bystander, "were their bodies opened after death!"—"Why," replied he, "to find out what they starved to death on, of course."

A HORRIBLE CONFESSION.—It may be recollected by many of our readers that about four years ago, an account was published of the burning of the house of the Perkins family at Millburn, N. Y., at night, when all the family, including father and mother, grandmother and eight children, eleven in all, perished in the flames! A Scotchman, by the name of Walter Mitchell, who lived in the neighborhood at the time, and who had a dispute with Perkins as to the property, was suspected of the murder, but no proof could be found against him. He left soon after for the West. Before the burning of the house he warned Perkins off the premises, and threatened if he did not leave to burn the house over his head. This Mitchell recently died in Illinois, and on his deathbed confessed that he committed the horrible crime! He stated that he threw into the house a bottle of liquid, which set fire to it and stupefied the inmates—that Mr. Perkins aroused himself and came to the door, when he knocked him back again, killing him. This is a most revolting story, disclosing a depravity which was too horrible to die with the murderer. If there be in the infernal regions one place deeper and hotter than another, this eleven-fold murderer will find it.

A COOL AVENGER.—A mysterious murder took place in a train on the Grand Trunk Railway, between Detroit and Ridgeway, on the night of the 34th ult. While the cars were under full headway a gentlemanly appearing individual came up the aisle, and without saying a word drew a revolver and fired three times at a stranger sitting on the seat with a Mr M'Leod. Of course he was instantly killed. The murderer then inquired of Mr. M'Leod if he was a friend of the victim, to which he replied that he was always the friend of a dying man. The revolver was then laid down, and the conductor coming along, asked what he did that for. He said—"There lies my revolver with three more balls in it; take it and do what you please with it." The assassin called himself M'Donald, and said both himself and the man he had killed were Scotchmen. He appeared to take the matter very coolly, producing a cigar and lighting it as if nothing had happened. The conductor and another person took charge of him afterwards, while on the cars. What became of him in the end is not stated.

LATEST WAR NEWS.

Battle Near Columbus, Ky.

7,000 REBELS ROUTED BY 3,500 FEDERAL TROOPS.

REBEL LOSS VERY HEAVY.

CAIRO, Nov. 7.—An expedition left here last night under command of Generals Grant and McClernand, and landed at Belmont, three miles above Columbus at 8 o'clock this morning.

The Federal troops, numbering 3,500, engaged the rebels, whose force amounted to 7,000, at 11 o'clock. The battle lasted till sundown. The rebels were driven from their entrenchments across the river with great loss. Their camp was burned with all their stores and baggage.

Their cannon, horses and mules, with one hundred prisoners, were captured.

The Federal troops then retired, the rebels having received reinforcements from Columbus.

Both of our Generals had their horses shot from under them. Col. Dougherty, of Illinois, was wounded and taken prisoner by the rebels.

The rebel loss is not known. The Federal loss is believed to be from three to five hundred.

After taking possession of the rebel camp, it was discovered that the rebels were crossing over from Kentucky for the purpose of attacking us in the rear. The order was given to return to the boats, when our men were attacked by the reinforcement of several thousand rebels from Columbus. Another severe engagement took place, in which our troops suffered seriously.

The losses as far as ascertained up to a late hour last night, were as follows:

Thirteenth Illinois Regiment, Colonel Fouke—160 missing, and Major McClerken wounded and taken prisoner.

Col. Buford's regiment returned too late for us to obtain any particulars of its loss.

Col. Dougherty, of the Twenty-second Illinois regiment, is reported to have been taken prisoner.

Col. Lamon, of the Thirty-first Illinois, is reported to be dangerously wounded.

Taylor's battery lost one gun.

We have taken 250 prisoners, a number of whom are wounded.

The rebels had 300 killed. The ground was completely strewn with their dead.

The rebel Colonel, Wright, of the 13th Tennessee Regiment, was killed.

Gen. Cheatham commanded the rebels—Gen. Polk being at Columbus.

It is stated that Gen. Johnston, of the rebels, was wounded.

The gunboats rendered efficient service in covering our retreat, mowing down the rebels with grape. Some of our own men were killed by the fire.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—A special Cairo despatch, to-day, gives the following particulars of the fight at Belmont yesterday:

After landing they were formed in line of battle, Gen. McClernand in command of the Cairo troops, and Col. Dougherty of the Bird's Point troops.

They were encountered by the rebels, 7,000 strong, and fought every inch of their way to the enemy's camp, making sad havoc in the enemy's ranks.

Col. Buford was the first to plant the Stars and Stripes in the enemy's camp.—Col. Dougherty's regiment captured the rebel battery of twelve pieces, two of which were brought away.

Col. Foulke's men suffered greatly, as they were in front of the batteries before they were taken.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—Gen. Grant telegraphs from Cairo to the headquarters here, that our victory at Belmont was complete. We captured 130 prisoners, and all the rebel artillery, but were obliged to leave part of the guns behind for the want of horses to haul them away.

Some of the prisoners report that a large force was preparing to start to reinforce Gen. Price, but this attack will no doubt prevent it.

Our loss is about 250, and of this number about one-half were killed or mortally wounded.

Important from Western Virginia.

Attack of the Rebels on Guyandotte.

100 SOLDIERS KILLED OR TAKEN PRISONERS.

THE TOWN IN ASHES.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Nov. 11.—The town of Guyandotte, Va., on the Ohio river, thirty-six miles below here, was attacked last night by six hundred rebels.

Out of the one hundred and fifty Federal troops stationed there, only about fifty escaped. The rest were killed or taken prisoners.

The rebel residents of the town, both male and female, fired from their houses on our men.

Three steamers, which passed down last night, were compelled to put back. These steamers went back to Guyandotte, at ten o'clock this morning, with four hundred Federal troops from Point Pleasant, but nothing has been heard from them since.

Three steamers have passed up since the skirmish and report that not a person could be seen in the town.

GALLIPOLIS, Nov. 11.—The steamer Empire City has just arrived from Guyandotte.

The Secession portion of the inhabitants it appears, were looking for the attack, and had a supper prepared for the rebel cavalry, who were headed by the notorious Jenkins, and numbered 800. Eight of our men were killed, and a considerable number taken prisones. The rebel loss is not known.

Col. Zeigler's Fifth Virginia (Federal) Regiment, on his arrival at Guyandotte, fired the town, and the principal part of it is now in ashes. The rebels left about an hour before the arrival of Zeigler.

FROM MISSOURI.

The Rebels Retreating to the Arkansas Line.

PLANS OF GEN. PRICE.

ROLLA, Nov. 11.—All our sick and wounded in Springfield, able to be removed, were to leave there on Saturday night for St. Louis, and orders had been given to have the rest start as soon as they are able.

Gen. Price's rebel army had fallen back eight miles from Cassville, near the State line, and was still moving South. It was believed to be his policy to lead our army on, not to fight, but simply to keep a large force so as to draw them into the Mississippi valley. The general belief in the rebel camp was that St. Louis would soon be in the hands of the rebels from Columbus, Kentucky.

There had been a good deal of trouble about slaves escaping, in General Lane's and other Federal camps, and Gen. Hunter had given permission to the owners to search our camps, and reclaim them if they could find them.

The ten missing members of Gen. Fremont's body-guard had returned to Springfield, from Cassville. They report General Price's forces to be about thirty thousand strong, with thirty pieces of artillery, twelve pieces of which had recently been received from Memphis, whence other supplies were being received.

Brilliant Victory in Kentucky.

Four Hundred Rebels Killed and 1,000 Taken Prisoners.

PARIS, Ky., November 12.—General Nelson met the rebels under General Williams, at Pikeville, Pike county, Kentucky, on Friday, and gained a glorious victory.

SECOND DISPATCH.

CINCINNATI, November 11.—Colonel Tabe Moore attacked the rebels in the rear with thirty-eight hundred men, and Colonel Harris, of the Ohio Second, in front, with six hundred, Harris falling back and Moore pressing forward till the enemy were brought into the midst of Nelson's brigade, when our forces pressed them upon all sides, killing four hundred and taking one thousand prisoners. The balance were scattered in all directions.—The Federal loss was small.

LEXINGTON, Ky., November 12.—A courier from Nelson's brigade, with despatches for Gen. Thomas, reports fighting at Pikeville for two days, where the rebels lost four hundred killed and one thousand prisoners.

Desperate Fight with a band of Rebels on the Prairies.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—This morning, at ten o'clock, Colonel Anthony, with one hundred and fifty mounted men, was attacked on the open prairie, about ten miles from this place, by six hundred rebels, under Upton Hayes, and after a desperate struggle the rebels retreated, seeking shelter in the woods, from which they were again routed.

Colonel Anthony then fell back about six miles, to await reinforcements, which will speedily be forwarded.

This is supposed to be the same band of rebels that captured a part of Colonel Shields' company of Fremont Hussars, near Little Santa Fe.

It is said there are upwards of 1,000 armed rebels in this county.

Capture of the Pirate Sumter in Her Own Trap.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—A family letter received here, dated on the 25th of October, on board the U. S. frigate Santee, off Galveston, confirms the report of the capture of the pirate Sumter. The writer says she was caught in her own trap. It seems that she mistook one of U. S gunboats for a merchant vessel, and started in pursuit. When the gunboat had drawn her out far enough, she turned and chased her ashore. Her officers and crew are prisoners on board the United States steam frigate Niagara.

☞ A new kind of artillery is proposed—a battallion to consist of six hundred men with one hundred guns, the guns to have the capacity of carrying two pound balls two and a half miles, and to have steel barrels, rifled, of superior workmanship. They are to be light, of metal, two wheeled carriages, each carrying its own ammunition box. Instead of horses, with the trouble and time of hitching and unhitching, the men will draw their own carriages, which considering their extreme lightness, is less toilsome than carrying a musket and knapsack. There are six men to each gun, who, in addition, of course, carry pistols and other small arms. A battallion of this kind is now organizing at Richmond, Indiana.

MILITARY UNIFORMS.—There is, perhaps, no department of military business in which there has been a more marked improvement than in the clothing of soldiers.—Not many years since, officers and privates were clad in garments which were almost skin-tight. They wore leather stocks, which were worthy of the name, for they kept the wearer in tribulation; while their padded breasts and tight sleeves made volition a matter of great difficulty. During the present war, such of our volunteers as procure their uniforms at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street above Sixth, Philadelphia, obtain clothing that is perfectly easy, substantial and becoming. The firm named have gone largely into the business of making Military Clothing, and their facilities enable them to fill the largest orders in the shortest possible time.

A Card to the Suffering.

The Rev. Wm. Cosgrove, while laboring as a missionary in Japan, was cured of Consumption, when all other means had failed, by a recipe obtained from a learned physician residing in the great city of Jeddo. This recipe has cured great numbers who were suffering from Consumption, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Coughs and Colds, and the debility and nervous depression caused by these disorders.

Desirous of benefitting others, I will send this recipe, which I brought home with me, to all who need it, free of charge. Address

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given—see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about 4 months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it in growing gray or getting bald. Very respectfully,

REV. A. LAVENDER.

To O J Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, New York.

My family are absent from the city, and I am no longer at No. 11 Carroll Place.

Siamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1860.

To Prof. O J Wood: Dear Sir—Your Hair Restorative has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC of its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all!

Yours truly. WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like. By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W H KENEDY

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Prof. O J Wood: Dear Sir—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to answer as the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure. FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz large, medium, and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3.

"WHERE WERE YOU WHEN THE BELL RANG?"—Ordinarily, we pay no further attention to the ringing of the Railroad shop bell, than to drop our work and haste to our homes, how homely they may be; yet to the contemplative mind there is something interesting in the sudden cessation of work in the evening when the bell rings. All the workmen are vigorously plying the hammer and other noisy instruments. Suddenly the bell taps, paralysing every arm. In another moment a living mass is pouring through every door. One exclaimed to another "where were you when the bell rang?" The answer was commonplace; but it suggested a thought, "where were the minds of that mass when the bell rang?" Truly varied must have been the thoughts that were passing through their heads while their external motions were so similar. The younger men were full of life and merry ideas, even though some feature of the war were before them. They were thinking of the nights amusement, the evening spent at a friend's house, the already appropriated maiden who was even then preparing her self to receive them. Men of maturity had, in many cases, their thoughts upon the war, and were toiling monotonously their souls were in Missouri, or Kentucky, or Hatteras, or Pickens. One weary-faced man was thinking of the wife, child or wife, the watching of whom through the long night was a bad preparation for the day's work. One man's busy brain was full of the minutæ of a great invention he had made which was to bring him a fortune. Another was working with might and main to appear himself "a workman that needed not to be ashamed"—his supreme ambition being a workmanship. Another works sullenly and mechanically, in every sense. The world owes him a living and refuses to acknowledge the debt, though quite willing to supply his wants in return for his labor. Another is sullen because he is a great unknown genius, and is likely to remain such. Another thinks himself and perhaps is, one of the burden-bearers of the new "dispensation." Solemn, yet cheerful, he stands in his humble lot awaiting opportunity to put in his oar in a way that will help on the car of progress. Mayhap some one like Arkwright, the tent-maker, is toiling there unconsciously for future generations will name their creed in cathedrals after him. One man's thoughts are intent upon the new cottage he is erecting. Another has his eye on a little shop, the rent, will and fixtures of which he will buy. Another he will be his own master. Another is clouded with thoughts of some dark crime he has committed or contemplates. Another is full of visions of grand palaces, country seats, honors and emoluments. Another is dwelling on the glooms of some dark theology. In spite of all efforts, he sinks in deep waters and there is no standing. Another sees all splendid things colceur de rose, and looks forward to a joyous, "love feast."

THE WITNESS "BORE."—If there is one thing in this world greater than another, it is to be being compelled to act the part of a witness in Court, and be kept hanging around the Court House, day after day, under the delusion that the case on which you have been summoned will come up next in order, only to find when it is called up, some important (?) witness is absent, or an attachment is out, and the case must be postponed for an hour or two; until at last to find that Court has adjourned and the case will not be tried at all. And then to have the pay foots up so nicely—something after the following fashion:

|---|---|
| Cost of board, per day, at a good hotel, | $ |
| Cigars, apples, chestnuts, etc., per day, | |
| Loss by neglect of business at home, | |
| Witness fee per day, | |
| Nett loss, | |

Who wouldn't be a witness under such circumstances? We are of the opinion that all those who go to law were compelled to imburse their witnesses, for loss of time and their expenses, there would be fewer suits entered up for adjudication in our Courts, and the county saved much unnecessary cost in the shape of jurors fees, &c.

BONNETS.—We are not in the habit of commenting, favorably or unfavorably, upon ladies fashions. We are prone to allow them to dress and wear what they please, and we do the same. We may, however, speak of the fall styles of bonnets, and be allowed to say that we like them very pretty. The form varies but little from that worn during the summer. It is a trifle what more elevated over the forehead, and closer to the cheeks. The materials used are chiefly velvets—black and blue being the prevailing colors. A new shade—blue azure—is the latest novelty, as it certainly is the most beautiful tint extant. Black and white, black, and blue azuline fancy ostrich azuline feathers, flowers, and grapes, are employed in trimmings. The ribbons are wide and rich. A speciality of the chapeaux is that the fronts and sides, in most instances instead of being of the same material as the rest of the hat, are formed of velvet. This gives a peculiarly light and graceful character to the bonnet.

They were thinking of the nights amusement, the evening spent at a friend's house, the already appropriated maiden who was even then preparing her toilet to receive them. Men of maturity had, in many cases, their thoughts upon the war, and while toiling monotonously their souls were in Missouri, or Kentucky, or Hatterns, or Pickens.—One weary-faced man was thinking of the sick child or wife, the watching of whom through the long night was a bad preparation for the day's work. One man's busy brain was full of the minutæ of a great invention he had made, which was to bring him a fortune. Another was working with might and main to approve himself "a workman that needed not to be ashamed"—his supreme ambition being a foremanship. Another works sullenly and mechanically, in every sense. The world owes him a living and refuses to acknowledge the debt, though quite willing to supply his deeds in return for his labor. Another is sullen because he is a great unknown genius, and seems likely to remain such. Another thinks himself, and perhaps is, one of the burden-bearers of a new "dispensation." Solemn, yet cheerful, he stands in his humble lot awaiting opportunities to put in his oar in a way that will help on the car of progress. Mayhap some one like Paul, the tent-maker, is toiling there unconscious that future generations will name their creeds and cathedrals after him. Another is dwelling on the glooms of some dark theology. In spite of all efforts, he sinks in deep waters where there is no standing. Another sees all spiritual things coleour de rose, and looks forward to a joyous, "love feast."

THE WITNESS "BORE."—If there is one bore in this world greater than another, it is that of being compelled to act the part of a witness in Court, and be kept hanging around the Court-House, day after day, under the delusion that the case on which you have been summoned will come up next in order, only to find that when it is called up, some important (?) witness is absent, or an attachment is out, and the trial must be postponed for an hour or two; and at last to find that Court has adjourned and the case will not be tried at all. And then again the pay foots up so nicely—something after the following fashion:

|---|---|
| Cost of board, per day, at a good hotel, | $ .75 |
| Cigars, apples, chestnuts, etc., per day, | .12½ |
| Loss by neglect of business at home, | 1.50 |
| | $2.37½ |
| Witness fee per day, | .62½ |
| Nett loss, | $1.75 |

Who wouldn't be a witness under such circumstances? We are of the opinion that if all those who go to law were compelled to reimburse their witnesses for loss of time and pay their expenses, there would be fewer suits entered up for adjudication in our Courts, and the county saved much unnecessary cost in the way of jurors fees, &c.

BONNETS.—We are not in the habit of commenting, favorably or unfavorably, upon ladies fashions. We are prone to allow them to select and wear what they please, and we do the same. We may, however, speak of the fall style of bonnets, and be allowed to say that we think them very pretty. The form varies but little from that worn during the summer. It is somewhat more elevated over the forehead, and fits closer to the cheeks. The materials used are chiefly velvets—black and blue being the prevailing colors. A new shade—blue azuline—is the latest novelty, as it certainly is the most beautiful tint extant. Black and white lace, white, black, and blue azuline fancy ostrich and aules feathers, flowers, and grapes, are much employed in trimmings. The ribbons are very wide and rich. A speciality of the Parisian chapeaux is that the fronts and sides, in many instances instead of being of the same material as the rest of the hat, are formed of rich lace. This gives a peculiarly light and graceful character to the bonnet.

THE WAR EXCITEMENT.—It is really astonishing to note the little interest manifested in anything save war news. If we do not take up the greater portion of our paper with details of battles, or thrilling incidents connected therewith, it is voted uninteresting. The account of a skirmish, or a reconnoisance in force, in which half-a-dozen are killed on each side, is no longer sufficient to satisfy the thirst for excitement, and in consequence the imaginations of army reporters are largely drawn upon to feed the credulity of stay-at-home readers and make the daily papers sell. The case of the old lady who complained, in the time of the Mexican War, that she "didn't enjoy her murders anymore," illustrates the position of thousands in this country at the present moment. Common causualities are scarcely glanced at in the newspapers. Marriages interest nobody but the happy pair, unless it be some faint-hearted swain who realizes the folly of procrastination in allowing "that other fellow" to "cut him out." Deaths, in the natural way, have lost half their impressiveness and warning, and the most eloquent appeals from the pulpit enter the mind intermingled with conjectures as to the result of the great expedition by sea, or the advance upon Manassas. As to literature, who reads a book now unless it treat of "broil and battle."—"Sensation novels" produce no sensation, and poetry is not even a "drug in the market," for drugs are saleable but verses have no buyers. But no matter; let the rebellion be put down before we fret over the losses that it occasions. If we can restore the country to its integrity—and "the Union must and shall be preserved"—we shall be able to rejoice in a sweeter prosperity than we ever knew before.

☞ Times in New York are becoming very hard, if we may judge by the following advertisement in the Tribune:

WANTED.—A SITUATION AS SON-IN-LAW in some respectable family. No objections to going a short distance into the country. For references and particulars, address FRANK STUART, Post Office, Williamsburg, New York.

Mr. Stuart should have stated whether he could or could not endure the average boarding-house coffee, and whether he can relish molasses on his slapjacks. These are important points, the previous settling of which might prevent numerous differences of opinions and tastes in after time, that result in watery eyes and pouting lips, or a "big scold," on one side, and the staying out late o' nights on the other. But Frank wisely contents himself with the above notice at this time, evidently having a stronger desire to be snugly ensconsed as somebody's son-in-law, during the coming winter, than to go into stipulations as to rations. It is a bad time to undertake to dictate terms, especially when one is hard up for a winter's boarding. Many a sprightly and interesting, though dilapidated young gentleman in this locality would gladly take the position sought by Frank, if sure of the usual allowance, without being over fastidious as to the quality of the molasses.

ANOTHER ADDITION.—We learn that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has effected a lease of the East Brandywine and Waynesburg Railroad for a period of five years. The latter road runs from the village of Downingtown to Waynesburg, in Chester county, and its length is seventeen miles and a half. It traverses a thickly settled region of immense resources, and its cost has been estimated at $13,000 per mile—only about $18,000 of the aggregate being unpaid by the company on the account for construction, lands, and right of way. The terms of the lease secure the application of the whole of the net earnings to the payment of the interest on the $140,000 of seven per cent. mortgage bonds issued by the Brandywine Company, first, and the balance to the stockholders of the latter Company.

KNIT MITTENS FOR THE SOLDIERS.—An officer from West Point, now in command of a regiment, suggests that woolen mittens for the soldiers will be greatly needed when the cold weather sets in. Will not all who can employ themselves in this way help to furnish five hundred thousand pair. They should be knit with one finger to allow the free use of the first or trigger finger. It is said there were more soldiers disabled in the Crimean war from frost-bitten fingers than from any other cause. Lady reader, have you not a father, husband, brother, son, nephew, cousin, or particular friend who, while you are seated at a warm stove doing nothing, may be bearing his musket in his bare hands and suffering severely from the piercing cold while on drill or the march? Then go to work and knit him one or two pairs of mittens.

☞ We notice that the Blair County Whig is published in Hollidaysburg and Altoona. As yet we have not been able to discover the location of the office in this place, and are inclined to the opinion that the Altoona branch has about as much existence in fact as the oil wells at El Dorado Station. If Hollidaysburg is not sufficiently respectable to entitle her to the exclusive claim of such an extensive paper, or not strong enough to bear the weight of the concern, we think the publishers should first have called Gaysport and Duncansville to their assistance, and then, if more help was required, they might have levied a contribution on Chimney Rocks, and not attempted to take such a long stride at the outset.

JACK FROST, ESQ.—This distinguished personage has become a permanent resident of this neck o' woods for some time past and his presence is unmistakably manifest. His breath is the sirocco and his touch death to vegetation, and already have the trees become almost totally denuded of their gorgeous livery. Well, we suppose we will have to put up with all this sort of thing, consoling ourselves with the reflection that Winter after all is a "handy thing to have about a house in the country;" a la mode de Sparrowgrass. We sincerely hope our readers may be able to weather the weather until Spring, whether it proves a big blast or a little one.

SENTENCED.—Lucy Robeson, the colored woman who plead guilty, at the late Sessions to the concealment of her illegitimate child, was sentenced by Judge Taylor, on Friday last, to one year's confinement in the penitentiary. She was taken to Allegheny city on Tuesday, by Sheriff Funk.

NEWSPAPER DEBTS.—A cotemporary says that newspaper subscriptions are infallible tests of men's honesty. They will, sooner or later, discover the man. If he is dishonest, he will cheat the printer some way—say he has paid what he has not—declares he has a receipt somewhere—or sent money and it was lost in the mail—or will take the paper and not pay for it, on the grounds that he did not subscribe for it—or will move off leaving it coming to the office he left. Thousands of professed christians are dishonest in this particular at least, and the printer's books and half-kept families will tell fearful tales in the final judgment.

☞ We are pleased to note that notwithstanding the cry of "hard times," our neighbor of the Standard has been able to dress up the reading department of his paper in a suit of new type, causing it to present the "gay and incomparable" appearance which he claims for it.—We should like to follow suit, or lead trumps, did we hold the right kind of a hand, but unfortunately we are played out at present. Our dress looks a little ragged to our eyes, but we must patch it up for the winter, hoping that a "fat take" will speedily fall to our lot and enable us to appear as the leader of the "bon ton" next spring.

VEGETABLE CURIOSITY.—The Harrisburg Patriot and Union notices a vegetable curiosity raised in this county and taken to that place by the Sutler at Camp Curtin. It is a large sized head of cabbage, underneath which, upon the same stalk, there are fourteen heads of various sizes, weighing from eight ounces to a pound—all of them solid, and in good condition for culinary purposes. This head must be a cousin, or a near relation, of the one left in our office, a short time since, by our friend Metzgar. Little Blair grows vegetable curiosities, pretty girls, pure patriots, and fat babies.

☞ The Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad is graded from Tyrone to Phillipsburg, a distance of 23 miles. The track is completed 12 miles out from Tyrone, and will be finished to Phillipsburg by the 1st of January. The completion of this road will be a great convenience to the people of Clearfield, but they should not allow it to terminate at Phillipsburg. It would undoubtedly pay to push it on at least 15 or 20 miles further, and we hope to hear of its being done at an early day.

THE HEAD-QUARTERS.—Messrs. Geis & Plitt have established the head-quarters for cheap goods, in Altoona, at Ickes' old stand, corner of Branch and Annie Streets, East Altoona. They have just opened perhaps the largest stock of goods ever brought to the town, and as they sell for cash only, they are enabled to sell unusually low—good payers not being taxed a percentage on their purchases to make up for bad payers. See their advertisement in another column.

SCARCE OF CONSCIENCE.—It has been said that "corporations are soulless," and we verily believe it, else the Altoona and Hollidaysburg Plank Road Co. would not have the face to ask eight cents toll for a drive, with a horse and buggy, over such a miserable excuse for a road.—Not two-thirds of the road is fit to drive on, and part of that is dangerous. If the Company would remove the plank entirely it would be an improvement.

BUMPED HIS HEAD.—Will Jackson, engineer on the Local Freight train between this place and Mifflin, was severely injured by a cut in the head, received while passing the water station at Huntingdon, on last Friday week. He was looking out and his head came in contact with the building.

CHANGE OF TIME.—By reference to the Mail and Railroad Schedule, in another column, it will be seen that the time of departure of the Mails and Trains have been materially changed. Note this, reader, if you do not already know it, or you may find yourself, or your letters, a little too late for the Trains or Mails.

ACCIDENT.—A miner named John Murray, engaged in the coal mines of J. M. Cooper & Co., had both his collar bones broken and was otherwise injured, by the falling upon him of a mass of coal, on Monday of last week. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Leisenring, and he is rapidly recovering.—Standard.

☞ A few evenings since, Mr. J. K. Bellman, of this place, exhibited to us a monster pippin apple, which measured 15 inches in circumference and weighed 1lb 5oz. It was grown in Indiana State.

MARRIED.

On Thursday, the 14th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, in Frankstown, Blair Co., Pa., by Rev. James Coleman, Mr. D. ROMEO HARTZELL to Miss M. LIZZIE HENSHEY, both of Fostoria.

The happy couple have our thanks for their kind remembrance of the printers. We wish them a long life of uninterrupted happiness and matrimonial bliss, and at last a safe entrance into that haven of rest prepared for those who do their Maker's will on earth.

On the 15th inst., at the Lutheran Parsonage in Woodberry, by Rev. D. Stock, Mr. DANIEL DITCH, of Blair county, to Miss REBECCA HAUN, of Huntingdon Co., Pa.

On the 24th inst., by Rev. S. H. Reid, Major WM. H. RUSSELL, of Kentucky, to Miss MARY E. WILLIAMSON, of Huntingdon, Pa.

DIED.

In Hollidaysburg, on the 4th inst., WILLIAM HENRY, son of Henry Y. and Elizabeth Baer, aged 3 years, 9 months and 2 weeks.

On the morning of the 28th ult., HARRIE B., son of Wm. B. and Susan Ketler, aged 4 years, 10 months and 5 days.

Swiftly did the "Death Angel" wing his flight to little Harrie's clayey tenement, that he might bear away the precious jewel, from the embrace of earthly friends, to that God, who said, "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," leaving the sad hearts of the parents to feel that

Bilious Affections,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
SICK HEADACHE, DYSPEPSIA, &c.
JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS,
A MILD, PROMPT & EFFECTIVE REMEDY.

THERE is scarcely any disease in which purgative medicines are not required; and much sickness and suffering might be prevented were they more generally used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides, it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might be avoided by the timely and judicious use of proper Cathartic medicines.

Convinced of the correctness of these views,

JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS

Are recommended with the greatest confidence, experience having demonstrated them to be far superior to any other in use, being more mild, prompt, safe and uniform in their operation. While using them no particular care is required, and patients may eat and drink as usual. Age will not impair them, as to always readily dissolve in the stomach. In small doses they are alterative and gently laxative, but in large doses are actively cathartic, cleansing the whole alimentary canal from all putrid, irritating and fecal matters.

For DYSPEPSIA, these Pills are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the Stomach and Liver, and producing healthy action in those important organs. In cases of long standing, a cure will be more speedily effected by using in conjunction with the Pills, either JAYNE'S ALTERATIVE or TONIC VERMIFUGE, according to directions.

For Liver Complaint, Gout, Jaundice, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fevers, Nervousness, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood, Sik Headache, Costiveness, Piles, Female Diseases, and Bilious Affections, these Pills have proved themselves eminently successful. All that is asked for them is a fair trial.

As these Pills have proved themselves so eminetly successful in removing diseases of the Liver, Dyspepsia and diseases of the Skin, I have thought it advisable to add the following remarks on

LIVER COMPLAINT.

This is a disease much talked about, but at the same time very imperfectly understood.

Properly speaking, every derangement of the Liver or Bilious system is a Liver Complaint, but the peculiar state of the Liver to which I now have reference is a Chronic Affection, and usually arises from a torpid or congestive state of that important organ. Sometimes the bile is deficient in quantity, or vitiated in quality, or both these states prevail at the same time. Sometimes the disease is owing to obstruction in the duct or pipe which conveys the bile from the liver into the bowels. This obstruction is very frequent, and is usually caused by the pipe being clogged up by thick tenacious slime or mucous, and sometimes by gall-stones. The bile is then thrown back into the gall-bladder, where it is absorbed by numerous small vessels which convey it into the Thoracic Duct, a pipe that runs up along the spine, and terminates in and empties itself into the large vein of the left shoulder, near its junction with the veins of the head and neck, and thence the bile is conveyed to the heart and becomes mixed with the blood. The bile in this manner being diverted from its proper course, and circulating in a part of the body where it never was designed by nature, produces much evil, and often disastrous effects upon the health of the individual—because, for want of healthy bile to mix with the half-digested food, a complete separation never takes place between the chyle (the milky liquor which forms the blood) and those portions of the food designed by nature to be ejected from the bowels—for the bile, when present, purifies and separates the healthy from the unhealthy portions, in the same manner that isinglass or white of eggs separate wine or cider from their impurities—and, consequently, the very fountain of life is vitiated and corrupted. Costiveness prevails—or alternately costiveness or diarrhœa—wind in the stomach and bowels, and the patient is often annoyed with worms, and frequently with the piles. The coarse particles of the bile thus mixed with the blood, more or less obstruct the pores of the skin and small blood-vessels, and hence give rise to various diseases of the skin, such as erysipelas, eczema, itchings, small watery vessels, blotches, tumors, pimples, scurfiness, boils, sore eyes, sores and ulcers of various kinds. The skin is more or less yellow, and (when the disease is of long standing,) often very dark, and has a disagreeable, dirty, greasy appearance, and sometimes there is a perfect jaundice. The white of the eyes also has a green or yellow tinge.

MORE OR LESS bile is strained from the blood in its passage through the kidneys, and, by its acrimony, produces pains in the back, and scalds and irritates all the urinary passages. Sometimes the passage of urine is profuse, and natural in appearance; at other times it is scanty, and the desire to evacuate is frequent and urgent. Sometimes the color is nearly white and milky, but usually it is high colored, red or yellow, with a rank, offensive odor, and sometimes it is bloody.

The tongue is usually more or less coated with a brown scurf. There is irritation, and frequently chronic inflammation of the inner surface of the stomach and bowels, with a tenderness on pressure, and a soreness along the lower edge of the ribs.

SOMETIMES THERE IS A LOATHING of food, and at other times there is a voracious appetite. There is often a feeling of chilliness, and coldness of the feet and knees, and along the inside of the thighs—sour or bitter eructations, and sometimes a spitting or throwing up of the food after eating.

There is a feeling of oppression across the stomach and chest, as if pressed down by a weight; troublesome and often frightful dreams, low spirits, languor, want of energy, melancholy restlessness and discontentedness, dreaminess of mind—timorousness and a great deal of trouble, and a disposition to magnify everything, sometimes great watchfulness and an inability to sleep—at others great drowsiness, weariness, and disinclination to motion.

AT TIMES THE FACE is flushed, with more or less fever, especially at night or in the afternoon. Sometimes violent colics, and wandering pains in various parts of the body. Frequently there is a short Backing cough, with a hushiness of the throat, and sometimes a dry, sore, dry, and hard cough, which is often mistaken for consumption. This cough often commences in the latter part of

H. C. Spalding.

Sir:

You will please send me two boxes of your Cephalic Pills. Send them immediately.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN B. SIMONS.

P. S.—I have used one box of your Pills, and find them excellent.

From the Examiner, Norfolk, Va.

Cephalic Pills accomplish the object for which they were made, viz.: Cure of headache in all its forms.

From the Examiner, Norfolk, Va.

They have been tested in more than a thousand cases, with entire success.

From the Democrat, St. Cloud, Minn.

If you are, or have been troubled with the headache, send for a box, (Cephalic Pills,) so that you may have them in case of an attack.

From the Advertiser, Providence, R. I.

The Cephalic Pills are said to be a remarkably effective remedy for the headache, and one of the very best for that very frequent complaint which has ever been discovered.

From the Western R. R. Gazette, Chicago, Ill.

We heartily endorse Mr. Spalding, and his unrivalled Cephalic Pills.

From the Kanawha Valley Star, Kanawha, Va.

We are sure that persons suffering with the headache, who try them, will stick to them.

From the Southern Path Finder, New Orleans, La.

Try them! you that are afflicted, and we are sure that your testimony can be added to the already numerous list that has received benefits that no other medicine can produce.

LABOR-SAVING
WASHING MACHINE.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING purchased the right for Blair county, of

Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine,

are now manufacturing them at Altoona, and intend to supply them to those persons throughout the county who desire a LABOR-SAVING MACHINE.

This machine is got up on an entirely new principle, and is considered, by those who have seen it in use, the best that has ever been brought before the public.

Among the many advantages of this machine over all others may be mentioned the following:

1st. Its simplicity of construction, making it almost impossible to get out of order.

2d. Its speed, which astonishes alike the operator and the looker on.

3rd. The facility with which it adapts itself to the bulk or quantity of clothes desired to be washed.

4th. It washes equally well the finest and lightest fabric or the coarsest and heaviest, such as bed-quilts, comforts, blankets, &c.

McMINN & DERN,
Altoona, Blair County, Pa.

---

We the undersigned, hereby certify that we are now using Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine and are fully satisfied that it is a very excellent article of the kind; combining as it does great speed with little labor, and performing its work in the most satisfactory manner. We therefore cheerfully recommend it to all who desire a real labor-saving washing machine.

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,

The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to fit me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL,

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING

Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires ONE-THIRD LESS FUEL than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves. JOHN SHOEMAKER.
